

Honors World Literature

Mr. Almanza

Class Overview

A human's quest is to feel, think and communicate...in any language.

Human experiences, and their feelings about them, are universal. Life's themes transcend borders and countries. In the end, which differences in cultures actually matter? World literature is a good source of clues to learn about "our neighbors on this shrinking planet Earth".

Students will discover the meaning of human experience through the language of literature. Students will explore and learn from the differences among cultures and time. Students will communicate reactions, reflections, and questions. Students will write to practice skills in summarizing, analyzing, comparing and contrasting, describing, classifying and persuading. Students will write to enable themselves to use the writing process for their own purposes, attack a new writing problem confidently, and succeed in communicating with others.

Harrison Bergeron Overview

'Harrison Bergeron' is dystopian fiction, a story based on a society whose attempt to achieve perfection goes horribly wrong. The society in the story focuses on the ideal of equality where intelligence and strength have been destroyed in the process.

The Scarlet Ibis Overview

The Scarlet Ibis” opens as the unnamed narrator recalls the season in which a scarlet ibis, a brilliant tropical bird, landed in his backyard. This reflection prompts him to remember Doodle, his younger brother, and he begins to narrate the story of Doodle's birth

“No man has the right to dictate what other men should perceive, create or produce, but all should be encouraged to reveal themselves, their perceptions and emotions, and to build confidence in the creative spirit.” – Ansel Adams

Guiding Question 1: What is narrative point of view and how can using it improve my creative writing skills?

Guiding Question 2: How are perspective and shared experience linked?
